Ministry...

Dawa was born and raised in a Buddhist family and came to know the Lord Jesus in 1985 when he was serving in the military. He was educated in Northern India and worked in broadcasting for seven years, partnering with Equipping the Saints ministry in Dallas, TX.

Currently Dawa and his leadership team of seven are focusing on training rural church planters in building house church movements. Their target people groups are Buddhist and unreached people groups of the Himalayan region. They are based in the eastern Himalayan region. They have a mobile training course which they take to various areas within this region to build up the body of leaders within the Church.
