Egla has served in the Philippines for many decades. Her husband, Greg, started preaching when WWII broke out and they began ministering together in 1948. He was known throughout the Philippines and region as a powerful evangelist, and worked with the Billy Graham Association at times. He began Asian Christian Outreach (ASCO) in the '70s. Their mission is to evangelize, equip and send out servant leaders to share the Good News. They do this through the Hiligaynon Bible classes in outreach churches in the mountains as well as at the Bible School compound. There is also a large technical vocational school. Greg preached for an hour two days before his homegoing in April 2010.

ASCO's children's ministry, ASCARE, remains Egla's love. Now in her 90's, she is involved in overseeing the seven preschool and feeding programs in the ASCO outreaches.
